

CONTRACT ERROR FAILS TO EXTEND TIME ON SCHOOL

Commissioners Decline to Advance Limit Again and Builders Must Lose.

Notwithstanding it is admitted by Snowden Ashford, Municipal Architect, that the District will obtain the building at $20,000 less than a fair cost, the Commissioners declined to grant the request of Allan T. Howson, contractor for the James Ormand Wilson Normal School, that he be granted an extension of time in which to complete the building in order to be relieved of the imposition of damages amounting to $55 a day.

In submitting his proposal, according to Mr. Ashford, the contractor made a clerical error by estimating the cost of steel casings at $1,800, instead of $18,000. The bid was accepted and Mr. Howson proceeded with the work, the contract for which called for the completion of the building by July 15.

On account of rain and weather conditions the contractor was given until October 22 to complete the building, and on October 21 he asked for an additional extension because of delay in the delivery of materials.

In his recommendation concerning this request Mr. Ashford says: "I regret to say that the daily report cards and the records of the work show that since last May the contractor has been frequently warned that, at the rate he was proceeding, the building would not be completed within the contract time. The weekly reports show that the principal delay was caused by the non-delivery of building materials, and that very serious delay was occasioned by the indifference and neglect of the subcontractor for plumbing who failed to place the order for fixtures finally required to order these fixtures until shortly before the expiration of the contract time and the District was and charge them to the contractor.

"The building is now very nearly completed, and I shall report it as completed at the earliest possible time if it could be justly considered completed, as it is realized that the contractor has little profit on the work and the District will obtain the building at nearly $20,000 less than fair cost, due partially to a mistake of nearly $15,000 in the contractor's proposal."

The Commissioners give as their reason for refusing a further extension that they do not believe the delay in completing the contract was due to conditions beyond the contractor, nor to conditions for which the District is responsible.

GEN. WOTHERSPOON MAY BE FORCED OUT

Senate Confirmation Necessary to Establish Place for Veteran of Army.

Unless the senate confirms the promotion of Major General Wotherspoon, assistant chief of staff, he may be forced out of the service by an unusual combination of circumstances. Major General Wotherspoon holds that rank through a recess appointment. His former place as brigadier general, has been filled. As a result of a Supreme Court decision, Major General Wotherspoon cannot regain his original rank because an appointment has been made. Consequently he is barred from his former rank and now holds a rank without the confirmation of the Senate.

ETTOR MAY PLEAD HIS OWN DEFENSE

If Accused Does Not Speak, Case
May Go To Jury
Today.

COURT HOUSE, SALEM, Mass., Nov. 22.—Whether the fate of Joseph Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti, and Joseph Caruso will be put into the hands of the jury late today was expected to be decided by the defense's decision in regard to allowing Ettor to make a final plea in his own behalf.

If Ettor does not speak it was expected that Judge Joseph Quinn will conclude his charge late this afternoon. Attorney W. Scott Peters resumed his final argument for Giovannitti when court opened this morning.

Dr. Barker Speaks.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, President of the National Association of Physicians, will lecture at the Sunday afternoon assembly of the Y. M. C. A. on "The Finest of All the Arts—That of Keeping Well."

CASE OF THE ALLENS BEFORE HIGH COURT
